FAVOR UNAPPRECIATED—An amusing incident occurred at the federal court office yesterday morning. The jury which decided the livestock case against the Oregon Short Line several days ago had done considerable hard work. Some of the members were anxious to be excused, and the court decided to draw a new panel and relieve the old jury. The jury was discharged, but some of the members who were new at the business were under the impression that their discharge was a reflection on their ability. One of the jurymen, in presenting his order for pay, remarked that he didn't care about being "thrown down" but he hated to be discharged in such a heartless and peremptory way. Whitmore and Professors Merrill and Widtsoe of the Agricultural college have reached Salt Lake after a tour of the state, taken for the purpose of selecting the locations for the farms. The ranchers in the neighborhoods have agreed to clear and fence the land free of charge. Experiments are to be made in "dry farming."
